

PDTI proudly presents its fifth
NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Saturday 2nd April 2016 ... 9.30am until 5.00pm

Venue: Harper Adams University, Newport, Shropshire TF10 8NB

... and we are delighted to announce another inspirational speaker

Anne McBride PhD CAB

'Development of fear based issues and its effect on the life of dogs and their people'

Anne was involved with setting up and running the first graduate behaviour courses in the UK, and is passionate about animal welfare and helping others to understand their pet's needs. Anne will be discussing the complexities involved around 'fear' and anxiety, often at the root of many canine problems encountered such as separation, repetitive, aggressive behaviours. As Instructors / Advisors we need to recognise this in both the species we teach, as fear can also detrimentally affect how all animals learn. Only by gaining an understanding of how fear develops, and learning to recognise its possible influence on related behaviours, can we help owners predict and prevent potential fear-based problems arising, and know how to best deal with any symptoms, including specialist referral if that is the better option for all concerned.

Join us to explore this emotive subject ... you will not be disappointed!
