

PDTI NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Saturday
7th April
2018

... welcomes another
inspirational speaker

Robert is an international consultant to the pet industry on the welfare of pets & their relationship with owners. His primary academic interests include companion animal cognitive science & emotionality, nutrition & its effects on behaviour, and applied neurophysiology, pharmacology & therapeutics in companion animal behaviour therapy. Robert is also Veterinary Director & Head of Education of the Centre of Applied Pet Ethology (COAPE), in partnership with Moulton College delivering their FdSc programme & higher educational opportunities in companion animal behaviour.

Speaking about dogs in our society - the science behind their thought processes, emotions and interactions. As these underpin most behaviour problems, Robert will also discuss the how, why and what, when things go wrong, and will offer an evidence-based approach to addressing these problems through effecting emotional change, and noting when pharmacological support is appropriate.
