This year the Practical Teaching Workshops surround our Saturday Conference with the inspirational Robert Falconer-Taylor. The workshops aim to provide a variety of exciting activities to suit instructors, handlers and dogs of any ability. All are led by experienced Instructors, who express their own views and not necessarily those of the PDTI, and all workshops include background theory on the practices involved. The aim of safe exposure to a wide variety allows all people to challenge their own ideas, appreciate expertise of others, discuss and increase personal understanding.

'Let's Talk Play!' A fascinating insight into the structure of play. This workshop, led by Rachel Richards, offers the opportunity to focus on the intricacies involved. By improving on how we play with dogs and analysing techniques, we can consider the positive benefits relating to our own dogs and our teaching of dog owners.

'Sniff & Search' We welcome Tracy Ridgway to run an evening of fun SCENTASTIC activities, delving into the wonderful world of scent. Nosework has the ability to motivate, stimulate, and focus the most distracted of dogs, increasing the fun of dog ownership, developing and strengthening the human/canine partnership.

'Teaching People with Dogs' Invited presenter Denise McLeod shares her vast experience of dealing with many of the common problems encountered when both teaching individuals and groups. She will discuss settling more reactive, excited and fearful dogs and introduce the science behind her specific 'Turn & Face' technique.

'Let's Talk Methods!' Led by Sue Evans, we examine the use of 'terminology' and what it means in practice. It is easy to talk the talk, perhaps not so easy to walk the walk! Are we really doing what we say we are doing? Effective teaching of life-skills in educating the public is a balancing act of explaining and training. In-depth peer review allows continual learning, to adapt to meet the demands expected today.

'Triathlon Challenge' Elinore Vickery & Tamsin Durston present a fun-packed dog-handler experience exploring three practical activities: You and your dog will create some sweet music together (Heelwork to Music style), tackle a Hoopers course (like Agility without jumps), and build up a Send-Away (as in Working Trials). All culminating in a Rally-style highly-motivating dog-handler challenge!
